

Hope Star

WEATHER
Arkansas—Fair, Thursday night and Friday, warmer in extreme north portion.

VOLUME 35—NUMBER 93

(AP)—Means Associated Press
(NBA)—Means Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

HOPE, ARKANSAS, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1934

Star of Hope founded 1909; Hope Daily Press,
1871. Consolidated as Hope Star, January 18, 1929.

PRICE 5c COPY

Here and There

Editorial By ALEX. H. WASHBURN

AMERICA returns today to a modified gold standard after a nearly year of currency uncertainty. Ultimate purchasing power of the old dollar in terms of gold is cut to 59.06 cents. The government has arbitrarily stepped in between debtor and creditor, giving the debtor more dollars for the product he sells to pay off the fixed-dollar obligation due his creditor.

$10,000 Trucking Claims to Be Paid in Hempstead Co.

Long-Delayed CWA Checks to Be Released in Few Days

JOBS FOR WOMEN

400 Returned to CWA Employment in State Thursday

Checks totaling approximately $10,000 for teams and trucks alone used on CWA work in Hempstead county, are expected to arrive here within the next few days, R. E. Stanford, CWA engineer, announced Thursday after receiving a telephone message from state headquarters at Little Rock.

Checks for supplies and materials used on CWA work in the county, involving hundreds of dollars, are expected to arrive soon, Mr. Stanford added.

No definite date was given as to when the checks would arrive. The message from Little Rock said that nearly 400 office employees were busy mailing checks to the parties concerned in the 25 counties of the state, payment of which previously had been held up by federal rulings.

Issuance of this money, for which creditors of the CWA have been waiting for several weeks, has been delayed by a shortage of regulation forms, Roy D. Liggins, state purchasing agent at Little Rock, said.

All checks will be assembled at Little Rock, and mailed direct to the party concerned, Mr. Stanford said. Approximately 400 women workers were to return to work in the state Thursday on civil works projects, Miss Gladys L. Waters, state supervisor of women's service projects, announced.

Canning centers established at different points will give work to 115 of the women. Another 150 will be employed on projects in Pulaski county. The remainder will be placed on projects scattered over the state.

It was announced that Jefferson, Garland, Lawrence, Columbia, Pulaski and Faulkner counties were to be among the first where projects for women will be re-opened.

Famed Arkansas Riverman Is Dead

J. A. Pate, 68, Arkansas River Navigator, Adventured in Alaska

PINE BLUFF, Ark.—Death Tuesday night closed the colorful career of Capt. J. A. Pate, 68, captain of the United States snagsboat Arkansas, at his home here after a brief illness.

He was given command of the snagsboat Arkansas in 1920 and had only two weeks before his death tied up at Pine Bluff for his fourth winter here with the boat, preparing for re-employment of operations in the spring. Born at Jamestown in 1866, Captain Pate began his river career in 1892 as a clerk and helmsman when river traffic in this section was at its peak. He continued in the river business during his entire life with the exception of one adventure into Alaska until his death.

In 1906 Captain Pate obtained his pilot's license and two years later was made a master. That same year he signed up with a party of shipping men to go to Alaska and work on its rivers, the Bering sea and the Arctic ocean—his only seagoing experience. He stayed in Alaska six summers and nine winters, spending two winters at home.

During that time he became a friend of the famous Father Devine, author of North country tales, and was in the Alaskan gold rush. His last four winters there he carried the United States mail by dog sled from Golovin Bay to Council City, a distance of 60 miles.

About the gold rush he once said: "Except for one short prospecting trip mostly for experience, I stayed on the water. All of us captains had trouble keeping crews on our boats. Men deserted us as soon as we touched land to dig for gold. Often I was left alone on my boat."

In 1907 he returned to Arkansas and was in charge of a store and post-office at Jamestown. But when the building was destroyed by fire four years later, he returned to the river, saying that "I was never satisfied away from the river. We rivermen are equally as attached to our life as are the seamen."

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

GOLD BOOMS PRICES

Leaders Seek to Avert School Ruin

Vet Appropriation to Be Rider Upon Senate Office Bill

Appropriations Committee Reverses Report of Its Subcommittee

LONG SCORES POINT

Senate Holds Charges for Ouster Proceedings Insufficient

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The senate appropriations committee Thursday reversed its subcommittee on the independent offices bill and voted 12 to 10 that veterans' appropriations legislation would be in order as a rider to the measure.

The senate election committee decided that petitions seeking to oust Long and Overton, of Louisiana, from the senate did not present issues which the senate could recognize.

The committee, however, decided to hold hearings on the sufficiency of the charges contained in the petitions.

Farm Bonds Guaranteed
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Legislation guaranteeing the principal as well as interest of the government's farm credit bonds was signed late Wednesday by President Roosevelt.

The new farm mortgage corporation act authorizes the governor of the Farm Credit Administration to organize and charter a corporation capitalized at 200 millions and to issue bonds up to 2 millions.

The sum, save for about 150 millions will be used in making new mortgage and issue bonds under the administration's farm debt refinancing program. The 150 millions will be used to buy back from the reconstruction corporation bonds which were sold under the emergency farm mortgage act of 1933.

The bonds held by the RFC provided cash with which the administration lent through the land bank commissioner and Federal Land banks. Repurchase of these bonds was requested as a move to consolidate the entire lending program into one corporation.

Farm Credit Administration officials said, however, none of the funds obtained through the new corporation would be used to provide any government guarantee of outstanding Federal Land bank bonds, amounting to about 1 billion, now in the hands of the public. All of the new bond issue, they said, would be required for refinancing mortgage and other farm indebtedness.

Outlaw Captured
CHICAGO—(AP)—Verne Sankey, one of the nation's most notorious kidnapers, suspected of the fatal Lindbergh abduction and nearly a half dozen others, was captured here late Wednesday by federal agents.

The former Gann Valley, (S. D.) rancher, turned desperado, was taken in a North Side barber shop. He was unarmed and offered no resistance.

In his clothing were found several poison pills, presumably carried for the purpose of ending his own life in case of apprehension. He was overpowered before having a chance to use them.

In Sankey's apartment were found two .38 caliber pistols, a sawed-off shotgun and large quantity of ammunition. In a tin box was found $3,200 in $100 bills, $200 in $20 bills, and $30 in $1 bills. A woman giving the name of Helen Matern also was arrested in the apartment. She denied knowing Sankey's true identity.

Rushed to headquarters, Sankey confessed, Melvin H. Purvis, head of the local office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation said, to participation in the abduction of Haskell Bolton, St. Paul, and Charles Boettcher, St. Denver, capitalists.

He denied any connection with the recent kidnaping of Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul banker, and that of William Hamm Jr., wealthy St. Paul brewer, a year ago. St. Paul officials, advised of the arrest, started here to question him in both cases.

Purvis and his aides submitted Sankey to a severe grilling concerning the Lindbergh case, but what they learned, if anything, was not revealed.

Federal authorities did not know what disposition would be made of Sankey. New Jersey probably will have the first claim for him in evidence definitely linking him with the Lindbergh kidnaping is developed, Purvis said.

Sankey's name was brought into the Lindbergh case for the first time early in January when County Attorney M. F. Kinkead, St. Paul, said he had uncovered evidence which indicated the terrorist might have had a connection with the fatal abduction.

The evidence consisted, he said, of records of telephone calls made from the Sankey ranch at Gann City, S. D., to New Jersey shortly after the abduction.

"We also found in the basement," he said, "a complete account of the Lindbergh case."

Kinkead, who figured in the Boettcher investigation, also said handwriting experts noted a similarity in script on the Boettcher and Lindbergh notes.

A plot to abduct Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight boxing champion, and Babe Ruth, baseball star, also was charged to Sankey by Kinkead.

The prosecutor said evidence found at the ranch indicated that a scheme was being developed by Sankey to capture the sporting celebrities.

"In a sort of a record file," Kinkead said, "was a complete account of the earnings of the two men and sources of their income were listed."

Verne Sankey Is Captured by U. S.

Alleged Head of Kidnaper Terrorists Denies U. S. Charges

CHICAGO—(AP)—Despite a 24-hour grilling, Verne Sankey Thursday persistently denied any connection with the kidnaping of Charles Augustus Lindbergh.

Meanwhile several states sought his extradition for trial on other kidnaping charges, notably, for the Boettcher kidnaping at Denver, and the Bohn kidnaping at St. Paul.

Outlaw Captured
CHICAGO—(AP)—Verne Sankey, one of the nation's most notorious kidnapers, suspected of the fatal Lindbergh abduction and nearly a half dozen others, was captured here late Wednesday by federal agents.

The former Gann Valley, (S. D.) rancher, turned desperado, was taken in a North Side barber shop. He was unarmed and offered no resistance.

In his clothing were found several poison pills, presumably carried for the purpose of ending his own life in case of apprehension. He was overpowered before having a chance to use them.

In Sankey's apartment were found two .38 caliber pistols, a sawed-off shotgun and large quantity of ammunition. In a tin box was found $3,200 in $100 bills, $200 in $20 bills, and $30 in $1 bills. A woman giving the name of Helen Matern also was arrested in the apartment. She denied knowing Sankey's true identity.

Rushed to headquarters, Sankey confessed, Melvin H. Purvis, head of the local office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation said, to participation in the abduction of Haskell Bolton, St. Paul, and Charles Boettcher, St. Denver, capitalists.

He denied any connection with the recent kidnaping of Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul banker, and that of William Hamm Jr., wealthy St. Paul brewer, a year ago. St. Paul officials, advised of the arrest, started here to question him in both cases.

Purvis and his aides submitted Sankey to a severe grilling concerning the Lindbergh case, but what they learned, if anything, was not revealed.

Federal authorities did not know what disposition would be made of Sankey. New Jersey probably will have the first claim for him in evidence definitely linking him with the Lindbergh kidnaping is developed, Purvis said.

Sankey's name was brought into the Lindbergh case for the first time early in January when County Attorney M. F. Kinkead, St. Paul, said he had uncovered evidence which indicated the terrorist might have had a connection with the fatal abduction.

The evidence consisted, he said, of records of telephone calls made from the Sankey ranch at Gann City, S. D., to New Jersey shortly after the abduction.

"We also found in the basement," he said, "a complete account of the Lindbergh case."

Kinkead, who figured in the Boettcher investigation, also said handwriting experts noted a similarity in script on the Boettcher and Lindbergh notes.

A plot to abduct Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight boxing champion, and Babe Ruth, baseball star, also was charged to Sankey by Kinkead.

The prosecutor said evidence found at the ranch indicated that a scheme was being developed by Sankey to capture the sporting celebrities.

"In a sort of a record file," Kinkead said, "was a complete account of the earnings of the two men and sources of their income were listed."

National Crisis for Schools This Spring

Committee in Washington Laying Plans for Immediate Federal Appropriation of 50 Million Dollars

This is the first of three articles on "The Crisis in Our Schools" showing the disastrous effect which the depression has had on the American educational system and the measures that are being attempted to restore the system to its former efficiency, obtain living wages for teachers, and insure every child his chance for education.

BY WILLIS THORNTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Within a few weeks, the federal government will be asked to save the nation's schools.

Yate in receiving the full impact of the depression, America's schools this spring face a crisis in which educators feel that nothing less is at stake than the future of American democracy itself.

Traditionally, the schools have been a local problem—we have not a single or even 48 state school system, but 127,000 local school systems.

Now so many of these have been curtailed that a large and representative body of educators is asking Congress for money to save the schools for the children of communities which are failing to keep them up.

Failure of any large number of communities to provide a decent minimum of schooling becomes a national problem, they feel.

A committee now is working in Washington, laying plans for getting this aid. Their program, which already is getting considerable support in Congress, will be about as follows:

1. Immediate federal appropriation of $50,000,000, either from present funds or by special bill, to be apportioned among states where schools have fallen down, in proportion to the need and to the ability of each state to carry its own load.

2. Because it now is almost certain that the school problem will be more acute next year than this, an appropriation of $100,000,000 for the fiscal year 1934-35, to be used similarly.

3. A further appropriation, amount not yet specified, for restoring to many schools the health services, music, art, home economics, and manual training courses which have been eliminated as economy measures.

4. Release of local funds for schools by refinancing district debts, and by federal loans to school districts on security of delinquent taxes or frozen assets in closed banks.

5. Securing out of any further public works appropriations at least 10 per cent for new school buildings.

6. A federal grant of $30,000,000 to help students go to college.

Conference Starts Drive
These plans for federal aid to schools are the upshot of a national conference of schoolmen and delegates from 32 other organizations, called last fall by George F. Zook, U. S. commissioner of education, to consider the problem of the crumbling away of local school facilities under the punding of a fourth year of depression.

Such organizations as the A. F. of L., Parent-Teacher associations, Y. W. C. A., Farm Bureau, American Legion, and Catholic Welfare Council, took part. A Federal Advisory Committee on Emergency Aid in Education was formed.

J. W. Connack, assistant to State

(Continued on page three)

Texas Doctor and Woman in Suicide

Physician and Wife of Professor Kill Themselves in Austin Hotel

AUSTIN, Texas—(AP)—Two persons identified as Dr. Claude Mattingly, prominent Austin physician, and Mrs. F. A. C. Perrin, wife of a University of Texas professor, were found dead in a room of the Texan hotel here Thursday.

A justice of the peace rendered a verdict of double suicide, saying that they came to their death through the injection of a narcotic.

They had been dead since Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Perrin was identified by the signature to a will found in the room.

Capt. Kitchens to Speak to Legion

Hempstead Post Meeting at 7:30 O'Clock Thursday Night

Capt. Wade Kitchens of Magnolia, who served through the Spanish American war the Philippine troubles and who commanded the Company K, of the Third Arkansas Through the World war, will be the speaker at the meeting of Leslie Huddleston Post of the American Legion at Hope city hall at 7:30 Thursday night.

Post Commander Dewey Hendrix has invited every veteran in the county and all visitors who are in Hope, to attend the meeting and hear Captain Kitchens' address.

Captain Kitchens is well versed on veterans legislation and on relief measures that are available to former service men. Questions of veterans concerning compensation and pension troubles are expected to be a part of the program for Thursday night.

Reports from committees recently appointed by the post commander probably will be of much interest to members and other service men.

British Make New Arms Pact Offer

Would Recognize German Claim to Equality—Crisis for Europe

LONDON, Eng.—(AP)—The British government Wednesday night made public its latest disarmament plan, calling on other nations to agree with the alternative "an armaments race, the end of which no man can see."

The choice facing Europe, the memorandum declared, is as follows:

1. To reach an agreement in a treaty abandoning certain classes of weapons by the most heavily-armed powers; or

2. Reach an agreement on a basis that the most heavily-armed powers will at any rate undertake not to increase their present armaments.

All Markets Gain as 59.06 Dollar Is Fixed on Gold

Devaluation Restores Confidence in Stocks and Commodities

UNCERTAINTY ENDS

America on Standard of Gold Bullion Rather Than Gold Coin

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The United States was described Thursday by Secretary Morgenthau as being on "a 1934 model gold bullion standard," as the result of the dollar devaluation program which netted the government 2 billion 792 million 490 thousand dollars' profit.

He made this statement to reporters just as Professor Irving Fisher of Yale testified to the house banking subcommittee that the existing Federal System "will be lucky if it escapes destruction altogether."

Fisher urged the creation of a federal monetary authority with sole currency-issuing powers.

Morgenthau refused to discuss the 2-billion-dollar stabilization fund created out of devaluation profits. Its operation is to be kept strictly secret.

Meanwhile, administration officials watched the climb of quotations on the stock market and the ebb and flow of the dollar in foreign exchange.

By the Associated Press
The domestic financial markets surged upward Thursday in response to the devaluation of the dollar, to 59.06 per cent of its former parity.

The dollar quickly advanced in foreign exchange after an early sag in Paris and London.

Stocks pushed up $1 to more than $4 a share in some of the most active trading since last July; and scores of issues penetrated to new high ground since 1929.

Bonds were strong and commodities mostly advanced moderately.

Wheat was up one cent a bushel and cotton some 50 cents a bale.

Dollar Is 59.06 Cents
WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Roosevelt late Wednesday devalued the dollar and gave the world a standing offer to buy and sell gold, according to the needs of international trade, at a fixed price in dollars, an action interchange by Treasury officials as putting the country "on a modified gold standard."

The president fixed the value of the dollar at 59.06 per cent of its former gold equivalent, and on this basis a price of $35 an ounce was established for international dealings in gold.

With the cut in the dollar's gold content there was established automatically a $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund to regulate foreign value of the dollar, which officials said might not have to be used extensively, as they expected exchange rates would be pegged by the price set on gold sales for export.

For the first time since last March the president made it possible to settle America's international balances in gold and gave the dollar a definite gold value for which, under restrictions, it is exchangeable.

Explains Action
President Roosevelt told newspapermen of his action shortly after 4 p. m., telling them unnecessarily to be quick to catch out the news as he wished the American gold market, which had not closed, to have the benefit of the news, rather than foreign markets, which would open tomorrow some hours before those in the United States.

"At 3:10 p. m. by proclamation," he said, "we fixed the weight of the gold dollar at 15 5/16 grains of gold, nine-tenths fine. This is the equivalent of 59.06 per cent of the former weight of 23.8 grains. The new gold content of the dollar became effective

(Continued on page Two)

Markets Hope Cotton Exchange

New York Cotton
Open High Low Close
March 11.42 11.52 11.35 11.39-41
May 11.61 11.70 11.55 11.58-56
March up 2 points from previous close.

New Orleans Cotton
March 11.42 11.52 11.35 11.35
May 11.59 11.68 11.52 11.53-54
March Down 2 points from previous close.

Closing Stock Quotations
American Can 106
American Smelter 44 1/2
Am. Tel. & Tel. 120 1/2
Anaconda 16 1/2
Chrysler 57 1/2
General Motors 40 1/2
Missouri Pacific xx
Socoy Vacuum 18 1/2
Standard Oil N. J. 47 1/2
U. S. Steel 47 1/2

Hope Star

O Justice, Deliver Thy Herald From False Reports!

Published every week-day afternoon by the Star Publishing Co., Inc., C. E. Palmer & Alex. H. Washburn, at The Star Building, 212-214 South Walnut street, Hope, Arkansas.

C. E. PALMER, President
ALEX. H. WASHBURN, Editor and Publisher

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Hope, Arkansas, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription Rates: (Always Payable in Advance). By city carrier, per week for six months $2.75; one year $5.00. By mail in Hempstead, Nevada, Howard, Miller and Lafayette counties, $3.50 per year; elsewhere $5.00.

The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, through widely distributed advertisements, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide. —Col. R. R. McCormick.

Member of The Associated Press: The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.

Changes on Printing: Extra Charges will be made for all tributes, cards of thanks, resolutions, or memorials, concerning the departed. Commercial newspapers hold to this policy in the news columns to protect their readers from a deluge of space-taking memorials. The Star disclaims responsibility for the safe-keeping or return of any unsolicited manuscripts.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

Central Government Bank Still Lying Issue... NRA Bottled by Snow-Birds... Paris Press Would Help Warren, But He Calmly Sails Through.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—The idea of a government-controlled central bank is very far from dead.

One of these days, Congress is likely to be asked to superimpose it on the Federal Reserve structure.

President Roosevelt until recently wasn't favorable to the proposal. But now, from the inside now, it is being studied. It is closely. The professors are on the job and a rough draft of the plan is being worked out.

The necessary legislation may not be asked in the near future—and perhaps not at all.

But there's a feeling in the New Deal family that a central bank might, after many attempts through other means, be the best instrument for loosening credit.

It's held that the Reserve system isn't elastic enough and has restricted credit operations of local banks.

A central banking system might carry certain compulsory requirements for its members and certainly would be operated on a liberalized credit.

Working under the president and with the treasury, it would be the bank of issue for government money and securities, regulate the supply and flow of currency and credit, and act as the government's agent in managing the dollar.

Whatever may be decided, it can be revealed that Roosevelt has been impressed by the argument that his present program, with its $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund, leaves too much permanent power with the secretary of the treasury.

"Snowbirds" are one thing to officials who deal with the drug traffic and another to NRA.

Popping up in hearings on the bituminous coal code operation, they turn out to be miners and others outside the mines who work poor or abandoned veins to get coal for sale.

"Snowbirds" used to be the people who went out and dug for family use, the term arising from the fact they usually operated after snow had fallen. But now there are tens of thousands of them over the country and their combined output has helped break prices in many markets.

Warren Puts It Over

A professor is a professor, even before a Senate committee. Accustomed to impart and elucidate learning, the New Deal type preserves the classroom manner.

The mysterious Prof. George F. Warren, Roosevelt's gold adviser, ought to get his pants pressed. But he sailed serenely and imperturbably through the Senate banking and currency committee's hearing on the gold bill.

Neither the presence nor questions of two former treasury secretaries on the committee—Glass and McAdoo—bothered Warren, whose sly grin couldn't be doused.

He might have been telling the yarn about Goldlocks and the Three Bears to a kindergarten group, so assured and amiable and self-possessed he was. He knew all the answers.

Orthodox economists scout his theories, but senators weren't managing to shoot any holes in him. It was easy to see how he might have sold himself to Roosevelt.

He is medium-sized, with steel-rimmed spectacles, and carries pencils, pen, comb, and other trinkets in his outer breast pocket. He wears a pointed stiff collar and his hair, suit, necktie, and socks are about the same shade of gray.

Now You Know

Private comment on the gold bill. Speaker Rainey: "Certainly we'll pass it. Nobody here knows what it's all about."

Senator Carter Glass of Virginia: "I don't know a damn thing about this bill, but I bet I know more than Warren knows about it."

Roosevelt: "No human being can tell how we should operate the stabilization fund until we've had some experience with it."

(Copyright, 1934, NEA Service, Inc.)

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart

OWSIEY NEA SERVICE INC. Heed These Complexion Hints If You're Going South

If you're planning to go South for

The Wall St. Boys Should Understand This

Married Flirts

by MABEL McELLIOTT

© 1934 NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GYPSY MORELL and TOM WEAVER are married on the same day as LILA HOPKINS and DEREK BLISS, but Lila expects to live in luxury while Gypsy keeps her job teaching in a settlement school.

Gypsy has to struggle to keep expenses within Tom's income. Another problem is Tom's jealousy of wealthy MARKO BROUGHTON, a former admirer of Gypsy's, whom they meet at the Bliss' home.

When Gypsy learns she is to have a baby she gives up her job. The baby is born in September and is christened DAVID.

Derek and Lila are constantly involved in a gay social whirl. Derek dislikes this and one night when he goes off from a party Lila goes with Marko. Marko tells her he is mad about her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXV

FLIRTING, of course, Lila was familiar with. She had flirted before. It was part of the game—meant nothing. But this feeling for Marko, this slow dawning of excitement and suspense, was something new. It was because of this that she had meant to ask Gypsy a question when she had called at the little Long Island house. Had Gypsy really cared for Marko? Lila was devoured with curiosity about it.

She knew Gypsy had been in the study that day last winter when she had dropped by to have tea with the great man. Lila had slipped into the dressing room to give Gypsy a chance to leave. Not that she believed Gypsy's presence there was anything but innocent; far from it. Still it was odd, Lila had given Gypsy a dozen chances to explain the encounter, but had received no explanation.

Well, it didn't matter now. Marko was staring at Lila as if he'd like to eat her alive. She was used to adoring looks and, for all she knew, this might be part of Marko's famous technique. But it made her feel shy. The wind blew cold and sharp from the river and she drew the blankets close, unable to keep from shivering. Just then she heard a door softly open and close, heard her husband's step in the hall. He was putting his things away in the hall closet. He would undress in the bathroom, so as not to disturb her. She smiled ironically at the thought. As though she were asleep!

Presently he came in quietly and slipped into the other bed. Gypsy could hear his regular breathing; he was asleep in five minutes. She had not uttered a word, but the fact that he had gone off into a peaceful slumber irritated her. If it were not for the baby she would have turned on the bedside lamp and awakened him, asked for an explanation. But David Weaver's sleep was sacred, must not be disturbed.

She woke to a sense of futility and discouragement. What had happened last night? Oh, nothing, really, except that Tom had not returned "until all hours" and she was convinced that he no longer cared about her. Well, it was her own fault probably. She had let herself get into a rut, was completely absorbed in the baby and in her home. Hurriedly she crept out of bed and rushed through her bath to finish before Tom awoke. She threw on a fresh print dress and ran a comb through her curls. David lifted his arms and made a bubble, smiling at her angelically. She buried her face in the warm sweetness of his neck. How dreadfully it would be if Tom were being won away from her! What did women do when things like that happened?

"I won't let him go," Gypsy said tragically. "Why, he loves me, of course he does! Maybe I haven't paid as much attention to him as I should. But marriage must be like that—all ups and downs. It doesn't mean trifling of someone just because she doesn't put on as much makeup as usual. It's a thrilling and fascinating game with two to play it."

SEVERAL blocks away Gypsy lay wide-eyed, thinking. Hunt had left around 11, and Tom had not returned. How amusing the tall young engineer with the slate gray eyes had been, and what pretty speeches he had made to her without being in the least foolish or flirtatious. It did something to you, having a man so obviously admiring. It bolstered up your self-respect. Domesticity certainly didn't nothing of the sort and, although Tom still told her she was lovely and adorable, he said so at longer intervals now. With those business friends of his, she had been weighed down by a feeling of dullness, quite foreign to her usual state of happy assurance. She was a wife. She had the dignity and assurance of the wanted woman. But something had happened to her ego of late. Dishes and beds, bottles and naps and routine had taken the edge off the first gay adventure of marriage. Were they going stale, Tom and she? The thought frightened her—brought her to a full stop. They mustn't lose the precious thing they had found. They must work and struggle to keep it.

The baby stirred and she rose to see that he was covered. She glanced at the luminous dial of the clock. Half past two! Suddenly she was angry. It was too bad of Tom, really, to behave like this. Suspicion darted into her mind and lodged there. Business, indeed! He had seemed so preoccupied of late, had often stayed to work overtime. There was something here that she had missed. How stupid she had been!

The wind blew cold and sharp from the river and she drew the blankets close, unable to keep from shivering. Just then she heard a door softly open and close, heard her husband's step in the hall. He was putting his things away in the hall closet. He would undress in the bathroom, so as not to disturb her. She smiled ironically at the thought. As though she were asleep!

Presently he came in quietly and slipped into the other bed. Gypsy could hear his regular breathing; he was asleep in five minutes. She had not uttered a word, but the fact that he had gone off into a peaceful slumber irritated her. If it were not for the baby she would have turned on the bedside lamp and awakened him, asked for an explanation. But David Weaver's sleep was sacred, must not be disturbed.

She woke to a sense of futility and discouragement. What had happened last night? Oh, nothing, really, except that Tom had not returned "until all hours" and she was convinced that he no longer cared about her. Well, it was her own fault probably. She had let herself get into a rut, was completely absorbed in the baby and in her home. Hurriedly she crept out of bed and rushed through her bath to finish before Tom awoke. She threw on a fresh print dress and ran a comb through her curls. David lifted his arms and made a bubble, smiling at her angelically. She buried her face in the warm sweetness of his neck. How dreadfully it would be if Tom were being won away from her! What did women do when things like that happened?

"I won't let him go," Gypsy said tragically. "Why, he loves me, of course he does! Maybe I haven't paid as much attention to him as I should. But marriage must be like that—all ups and downs. It doesn't mean trifling of someone just because she doesn't put on as much makeup as usual. It's a thrilling and fascinating game with two to play it."

SEVERAL blocks away Gypsy lay wide-eyed, thinking. Hunt had left around 11, and Tom had not returned. How amusing the tall young engineer with the slate gray eyes had been, and what pretty speeches he had made to her without being in the least foolish or flirtatious. It did something to you, having a man so obviously admiring. It bolstered up your self-respect. Domesticity certainly didn't nothing of the sort and, although Tom still told her she was lovely and adorable, he said so at longer intervals now. With those business friends of his, she had been weighed down by a feeling of dullness, quite foreign to her usual state of happy assurance. She was a wife. She had the dignity and assurance of the wanted woman. But something had happened to her ego of late. Dishes and beds, bottles and naps and routine had taken the edge off the first gay adventure of marriage. Were they going stale, Tom and she? The thought frightened her—brought her to a full stop. They mustn't lose the precious thing they had found. They must work and struggle to keep it.

The baby stirred and she rose to see that he was covered. She glanced at the luminous dial of the clock. Half past two! Suddenly she was angry. It was too bad of Tom, really, to behave like this. Suspicion darted into her mind and lodged there. Business, indeed! He had seemed so preoccupied of late, had often stayed to work overtime. There was something here that she had missed. How stupid she had been!

The wind blew cold and sharp from the river and she drew the blankets close, unable to keep from shivering. Just then she heard a door softly open and close, heard her husband's step in the hall. He was putting his things away in the hall closet. He would undress in the bathroom, so as not to disturb her. She smiled ironically at the thought. As though she were asleep!

Presently he came in quietly and slipped into the other bed. Gypsy could hear his regular breathing; he was asleep in five minutes. She had not uttered a word, but the fact that he had gone off into a peaceful slumber irritated her. If it were not for the baby she would have turned on the bedside lamp and awakened him, asked for an explanation. But David Weaver's sleep was sacred, must not be disturbed.

She woke to a sense of futility and discouragement. What had happened last night? Oh, nothing, really, except that Tom had not returned "until all hours" and she was convinced that he no longer cared about her. Well, it was her own fault probably. She had let herself get into a rut, was completely absorbed in the baby and in her home. Hurriedly she crept out of bed and rushed through her bath to finish before Tom awoke. She threw on a fresh print dress and ran a comb through her curls. David lifted his arms and made a bubble, smiling at her angelically. She buried her face in the warm sweetness of his neck. How dreadfully it would be if Tom were being won away from her! What did women do when things like that happened?

"I won't let him go," Gypsy said tragically. "Why, he loves me, of

Your Health

By DR. MORRIS FISHER
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

For the Good of Your Stomach, Eat Eggs Hard Boiled

How you like to have your eggs in the morning should depend on how your stomach can take them. A strong "cast-iron" stomach, for example, might be able to get away with a raw egg, without harm to your system. But if you're subject to attacks of indigestion, a hard-boiled egg, quickly mashed, is best for you.

And the reason most of us eat soft-boiled eggs is because this kind meets the demand of the average digestive system.

Babies now have some form of egg added to their diet at a very early stage, unless they show some special sensitivity to this food by a reaction of the skin. Many physicians begin with egg yolk after the third month and add the egg white, with which sensitivity is more likely to occur, after the child is a year old.

The United States uses about 35,000,000 eggs a year, or 280 a person. About 60 per cent of these are consumed on the farms or nearby. The remaining 40 per cent are marketed throughout the country, and this represents a business of about $1,000,000,000 a year.

You can tell a freshly laid egg by the amount of air space there is in it. When the egg is still warm it completely fills the shell, but as it cools and the egg substance contracts and leaves a space at the blunt end. As the egg grows older, the space becomes larger.

The white of an egg is almost pure protein. The yolk, however, is a mixture of proteins, fats, cholesterol and lecithin, containing minerals and vitamins.

An egg laid in winter usually has a lighter colored yolk than one laid in summer. This depends on the diet of the hen. If the hen fails to include any green stuffs in its diet or if it fails to obtain certain grains, like yellow corn, the yolk gradually will become paler.

The cow transfers these substances to the butter fat of the milk, the hen to the yolk. The yellow color is due to chlorophyll and carotin.

Egg yolk is fairly rich in Vitamin A and Vitamin D, compared with other foods, for this reason. The white of an egg has 88 per cent of water, but the yolk only 47 per cent.

The amount of nourishment you get out of an egg depends on its digestibility and the nature of its protein. The amount of energy you get out of it is not great, only about 70 calories.

You won't get much Vitamin C out of it, either, but there will be some phosphorus, iron, and calcium in it, besides the fats, proteins, and other substances already mentioned.

As to America's new relationship to the gold standard, Treasury economists said that of course, the country had not resumed a monetary system making dollars freely exchangeable for gold but that for purposes of international trade, this had been accomplished.

Under the monetary bill signed by the president Wednesday evening of gold is ended and the metal is to be kept in bullion form and used as such only for the settlement of international trade balances. Otherwise it will be held by the Treasury as backing for currency.

The monetary bill gave to the Treasury little to all the nation's monetary gold stocks, including principally more than $3,500,000,000 heretofore held by the Federal Reserve banks. Gold held by the Treasury increased the total to more than $4,011,000,000. Devaluation of the dollar gave the Treasury a profit of about $2,750,000,000. Of this profit, $2,000,000,000 is automatically set aside for the stabilization fund.

Copyright 1934, by Associated Press. NEW YORK—President Roosevelt's proclamation devaluing the dollar 50.9 per cent of former gold parity late Wednesday brought a prompt decline in the dollar in terms of foreign currencies, and prompted an upturn in the Pacific coast securities markets where trading was still in progress.

Rerein exchange dealing was in progress in New York which announcement of this monetary adjustment to banks and other financial offices, but exchange dealing abroad had ended for the day several hours previously, and principal securities and commodity markets both here and abroad were closed.

Wall Street international banking quarters interpreted the move as a return, at least tentatively, to the international gold standard. Some financial authorities here expressed the opinion that it paved the way for a huge expansion of credit. Some banking circles suggested that devaluation of the dollar to as low a level as 50.9 per cent of its old parity might well prompt a huge flow of gold from abroad, and that further foreign gold purchases to stabilize the dollar might be unnecessary.

With some $2,000,000,000 of fugitive American capital, according to rough estimates, still abroad which may run back in view of the more definite status of the dollar, some bankers felt that an inflow of gold might render proportions difficult to manage, unless the stabilization fund were to take action of offset it.

They expected European gold prices to rise immediately to the $35 quotation here as expressed through the exchange rates. Such an increase in the dollar value of gold holds a fundamental place in the monetary theory of Prof. George F. Warren, commonly credited with originating much of President Roosevelt's currency program.

The theory is that when the value of gold as expressed in dollars is high the price of commodities automatically will adjust itself upward. A rise in commodity prices is the first goal of the president's recovery plan.

The $35 gold price the Treasury also expected to result in an immediate depreciation of the dollar in terms of foreign currencies, which economists say would be of great benefit to the United States by enabling foreign merchants to buy more cheaply in the United States than in their own countries.

The price-spread thus created between American and Europe with the higher prices, as expressed in dollars, obtaining abroad was expected by them to result in an adjustment which would move the American price level upward.

No Gold Ceiling

As to America's new relationship to the gold standard, Treasury economists said that of course, the country had not resumed a monetary system making dollars freely exchangeable for gold but that for purposes of international trade, this had been accomplished.

Under the monetary bill signed by the president Wednesday evening of gold is ended and the metal is to be kept in bullion form and used as such only for the settlement of international trade balances. Otherwise it will be held by the Treasury as backing for currency.

The monetary bill gave to the Treasury little to all the nation's monetary gold stocks, including principally more than $3,500,000,000 heretofore held by the Federal Reserve banks. Gold held by the Treasury increased the total to more than $4,011,000,000. Devaluation of the dollar gave the Treasury a profit of about $2,750,000,000. Of this profit, $2,000,000,000 is automatically set aside for the stabilization fund.

Copyright 1934, by Associated Press. NEW YORK—President Roosevelt's proclamation devaluing the dollar 50.9 per cent of former gold parity late Wednesday brought a prompt decline in the dollar in terms of foreign currencies, and prompted an upturn in the Pacific coast securities markets where trading was still in progress.

Rerein exchange dealing was in progress in New York which announcement of this monetary adjustment to banks and other financial offices, but exchange dealing abroad had ended for the day several hours previously, and principal securities and commodity markets both here and abroad were closed.

Wall Street international banking quarters interpreted the move as a return, at least tentatively, to the international gold standard. Some financial authorities here expressed the opinion that it paved the way for a huge expansion of credit. Some banking circles suggested that devaluation of the dollar to as low a level as 50.9 per cent of its old parity might well prompt a huge flow of gold from abroad, and that further foreign gold purchases to stabilize the dollar might be unnecessary.

With some $2,000,000,000 of fugitive American capital, according to rough estimates, still abroad which may run back in view of the more definite status of the dollar, some bankers felt that an inflow of gold might render proportions difficult to manage, unless the stabilization fund were to take action of offset it.

They expected European gold prices to rise immediately to the $35 quotation here as expressed through the exchange rates. Such an increase in the dollar value of gold holds a fundamental place in the monetary theory of Prof. George F. Warren, commonly credited with originating much of President Roosevelt's currency program.

The theory is that when the value of gold as expressed in dollars is high the price of commodities automatically will adjust itself upward. A rise in commodity prices is the first goal of the president's recovery plan.

The $35 gold price the Treasury also expected to result in an immediate depreciation of the dollar in terms of foreign currencies, which economists say would be of great benefit to the United States by enabling foreign merchants to buy more cheaply in the United States than in their own countries.

The price-spread thus created between American and Europe with the higher prices, as expressed in dollars, obtaining abroad was expected by them to result in an adjustment which would move the American price level upward.

No Gold Ceiling

As to America's new relationship to the gold standard, Treasury economists said that of course, the country had not resumed a monetary system making dollars freely exchangeable for gold but that for purposes of international trade, this had been accomplished.

Under the monetary bill signed by the president Wednesday evening of gold is ended and the metal is to be kept in bullion form and used as such only for the settlement of international trade balances. Otherwise it will be held by the Treasury as backing for currency.

The monetary bill gave to the Treasury little to all the nation's monetary gold stocks, including principally more than $3,500,000,000 heretofore held by the Federal Reserve banks. Gold held by the Treasury increased the total to more than $4,011,000,000. Devaluation of the dollar gave the Treasury a profit of about $2,750,000,000. Of this profit, $2,000,000,000 is automatically set aside for the stabilization fund.

Copyright 1934, by Associated Press. NEW YORK—President Roosevelt's proclamation devaluing the dollar 50.9 per cent of former gold parity late Wednesday brought a prompt decline in the dollar in terms of foreign currencies, and prompted an upturn in the Pacific coast securities markets where trading was still in progress.

Rerein exchange dealing was in progress in New York which announcement of this monetary adjustment to banks and other financial offices, but exchange dealing abroad had ended for the day several hours previously, and principal securities and commodity markets both here and abroad were closed.

Wall Street international banking quarters interpreted the move as a return, at least tentatively, to the international gold standard. Some financial authorities here expressed the opinion that it paved the way for a huge expansion of credit. Some banking circles suggested that devaluation of the dollar to as low a level as 50.9 per cent of its old parity might well prompt a huge flow of gold from abroad, and that further foreign gold purchases to stabilize the dollar might be unnecessary.

With some $2,000,000,000 of fugitive American capital, according to rough estimates, still abroad which may run back in view of the more definite status of the dollar, some bankers felt that an inflow of gold might render proportions difficult to manage, unless the stabilization fund were to take action of offset it.

They expected European gold prices to rise immediately to the $35 quotation here as expressed through the exchange rates. Such an increase in the dollar value of gold holds a fundamental place in the monetary theory of Prof. George F. Warren, commonly credited with originating much of President Roosevelt's currency program.

The theory is that when the value of gold as expressed in dollars is high the price of commodities automatically will adjust itself upward. A rise in commodity prices is the first goal of the president's recovery plan.

The $35 gold price the Treasury also expected to result in an immediate depreciation of the dollar in terms of foreign currencies, which economists say would be of great benefit to the United States by enabling foreign merchants to buy more cheaply in the United States than in their own countries.

The price-spread thus created between American and Europe with the higher prices, as expressed in dollars, obtaining abroad was expected by them to result in an adjustment which would move the American price level upward.

ALL MARKETS GAIN

(Continued from Page One)

at 3:10 p. m.

"The secretary of the Treasury with approval of the president has issued a public announcement that beginning February 1 he will buy through the Federal Reserve banks of New York as his fiscal agent for the United States any and all gold delivered to a United States Mint or the Assay Office in New York or Seattle at the rate of $35 per fine troy ounce, less the usual Mint charges and loss of one per cent for handling charges."

Treasury officials explained that sale of gold for export would depend upon fluctuations in exchange rates, which they expected to be very little. When the rate of exchange reaches a point at which it is cheaper to ship actual gold than to buy foreign exchange for the purpose of making international payments, gold will be sold. When the opposite obtains, foreign gold will be bought.

Prices to Rise

They expected European gold prices to rise immediately to the $35 quotation here as expressed through the exchange rates. Such an increase in the dollar value of gold holds a fundamental place in the monetary theory of Prof. George F. Warren, commonly credited with originating much of President Roosevelt's currency program.

The theory is that when the value of gold as expressed in dollars is high the price of commodities automatically will adjust itself upward. A rise in commodity prices is the first goal of the president's recovery plan.

The $35 gold price the Treasury also expected to result in an immediate depreciation of the dollar in terms of foreign currencies, which economists say would be of great benefit to the United States by enabling foreign merchants to buy more cheaply in the United States than in their own countries.

The price-spread thus created between American and Europe with the higher prices, as expressed in dollars, obtaining abroad was expected by them to result in an adjustment which would move the American price level upward.

No Gold Ceiling

As to America's new relationship to the gold standard, Treasury economists said that of course, the country had not resumed a monetary system making dollars freely exchangeable for gold but that for purposes of international trade, this had been accomplished.

Under the monetary bill signed by the president Wednesday evening of gold is ended and the metal is to be kept in bullion form and used as such only for the settlement of international trade balances. Otherwise it will be held by the Treasury as backing for currency.

The monetary bill gave to the Treasury little to all the nation's monetary gold stocks, including principally more than $3,500,000,000 heretofore held by the Federal Reserve banks. Gold held by the Treasury increased the total to more than $4,011,000,000. Devaluation of the dollar gave the Treasury a profit of about $2,750,000,000. Of this profit, $2,000,000,000 is automatically set aside for the stabilization fund.

Copyright 1934, by Associated Press. NEW YORK—President Roosevelt's proclamation devaluing the dollar 50.9 per cent of former gold parity late Wednesday brought a prompt decline in the dollar in terms of foreign currencies, and prompted an upturn in the Pacific coast securities markets where trading was still in progress.

Rerein exchange dealing was in progress in New York which announcement of this monetary adjustment to banks and other financial offices, but exchange dealing abroad had ended for the day several hours previously, and principal securities and commodity markets both here and abroad were closed.

Wall Street international banking quarters interpreted the move as a return, at least tentatively, to the international gold standard. Some financial authorities here expressed the opinion that it paved the way for a huge expansion of credit. Some banking circles suggested that devaluation of the dollar to as low a level as 50.9 per cent of its old parity might well prompt a huge flow of gold from abroad, and that further foreign gold purchases to stabilize the dollar might be unnecessary.

With some $2,000,000,000 of fugitive American capital, according to rough estimates, still abroad which may run back in view of the more definite status of the dollar, some bankers felt that an inflow of gold might render proportions difficult to manage, unless the stabilization fund were to take action of offset it.

They expected European gold prices to rise immediately to the $35 quotation here as expressed through the exchange rates. Such an increase in the dollar value of gold holds a fundamental place in the monetary theory of Prof. George F. Warren, commonly credited with originating much of President Roosevelt's currency program.

The theory is that when the value of gold as expressed in dollars is high the price of commodities automatically will adjust itself upward. A rise in commodity prices is the first goal of the president's recovery plan.

The $3

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mrs. Sid Henry Telephone 321

Death is only an old door
Set in a garden wall.
Gentle hinges it gives, at dusk,
When the thrushes call.
Along the lintel are green leaves,
Beyond the light lies still.
Very willing and weary feet
Go over that still.
There is nothing to trouble any heart
Nothing to hurt at all.
Death is only a quiet door in an old wall.—Selected.
By Special Request

As special compliment to Mrs. Howard Stunt, a January bride, Miss Harriet Stunt was hostess on Wednesday afternoon at a miscellaneous shower, at her home on West Second street. For this delightful occasion, the story home was beautifully decorated with cut flowers and potted plants, with white narcissi and cyclamen predominating. Seated at the beautifully decorated dining table, the honoree received the gifts from a large basket, and after they were opened and admired, each guest was given a tea towel to her, and the prize for the neatest and best work went to Miss Mary Louise Keith. The hostess assisted by her mother, Mrs. Garrett Story, Mrs. Dale Wilson and Miss Keith, served a most tempting salad course.

Mrs. E. O. Wingfield and Mrs. Kate Holland have returned from Dallas, Texas, where they have spent the past few days purchasing stock for the Gift Shop.

Start Spring
in a Swagger
SUIT!
$10.

Women tell us these are the smartest suits in town! We believe them, for we know our style experts in New York spent infinite time and care choosing them!

Tailored types,
Semi-tailored,
Sporty-sweater
styles, too!

Blossom out in a soft flattering pastel, or "go for" a trim and conservative type, if you prefer! Slim skirts are topped with carefully tailored coats to give you that Spring 1934 look!

J.C. Penney Co.
PHONE 484

The Cemetery association will hold their January meeting at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon at the city hall. All members are urged to be present.

Among the outstanding books recently received at Hope Library are: "Anthony Adverse" by Hervey Allen, "Without My Cloak" by Kate O'Brien, "Within This Present" by Margaret Ayres Barnes, "The Road to Carolina" by M. H. Allen, "Miss Bishop" by Bess Streeter Aldrich, "Three Haves" by Kathleen Norris, "Look Back Glory" by Ruvenci Saez, and a number of thrilling mysteries and westerns and children's books. Also The Life of William Pitt the Younger and Pasture, the noted scientist.

The Saturday night club entertainment at the most delightful 6 o'clock dinner on Tuesday evening with Mrs. S. G. Norton as hostess at her home on North Hervey street. The occasion was in celebration of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Theo P. Witt. The members and honoree were all seated at one large table, which held for its central decoration a crystal basket of lovely early yellow jessamine. Following a most tempting three-course dinner conversation was enjoyed.

January 31st being the second wedding anniversary of their pastor, Rev. and Mrs. Wallace R. Rogers, following the regular Wednesday evening prayer service, at First Baptist church an informal reception was held, at the church. A number of handsome gifts were presented, also two beautifully decorated cakes and an old-fashioned "pounding." Following the presentation of gifts and felicitations, a Tom Thumb wedding procession marched down the church aisle to the strains of the wedding march, played by Mrs. J. C. Carlton. The responses were made in the names of the honorees, "Wallace" and "Aline." This celebration came as a delightful surprise for Rev. and Mrs. Rogers.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Davis announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Elizabeth to Hugh Chamberlain on Wednesday January 24, at Magnolia, Ark., with the Rev. Tomlin officiating. The bride is the second daughter of Postmaster and Mrs. J. A. Davis, and is a member of the junior class of Hope High School. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. Bert Chamberlain and is also a Junior in Hope High School. Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain will reside at 1316 South Main street.

Mrs. E. M. Hall and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Carter of Arkadelphia were Wednesday guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. Frank Miles.

Mrs. R. E. Burnett has joined her husband in Smackover, Ark., where they will make their future home.

NATIONAL CRISIS

(Continued from Page One)

Superintendent James H. Richmond of Kentucky, national chairman of the committee, is in Washington, lining up congressional support for the committee's program, which is backed actively by the National Education Association, with its 200,000 members and 600,000 associated members in state federations.

Kentucky, for instance, Cammack tells you of the situation today in his home state of Kentucky, a situation which in varying degree is found in every state.

"Last year we had 17,000 teachers in Kentucky drawing an average of $726 for the year, and 10,000 paid an average of $459. The whole 27,000 thus are well below the minimum set by the government for common labor under most codes.

"They will run at least 15 per cent lower this year than last, due to lower tax assessments and delinquencies. This year many teachers are getting $35 a month for seven months—a year's earnings of $245.

"It is clear that under conditions like that, American children are not getting the kind of education to which they are entitled."

Half Will Close

The near approach of the crisis is shown by a survey just completed in Alabama, showing that half the white rural and city schools of the entire

SAENGER

Arkansas' largest and finest

HERE'S—
drama . . . aimed straight at the heart of women who crave love . . . and at men who forget!

John BOLES
MARGARET Sullivan and 90 other
screen favorites
—in—
"ONLY YESTERDAY"
Colored Cartoon
"PIED PIPER"
NEWS

ARE YOU—
Passing up our great
SATURDAY Double Programs

If you are missing the best and biggest bargains ever offered for 25c

Income Tax In a Nutshell

WHO? Single persons who had net income of $1,000 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more, and married couples who had net income of $2,500 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more must file returns.

WHEN? The filing period begins January 1 and ends March 15, 1934.

WHERE? Collector of internal revenue for the district in which the person lives or has his principal place of business.

HOW? See instructions on forms 1040A and 1040.

WHAT? Four per cent normal tax on the first $4,000 in excess of the personal exemption and credits. Eight per cent normal tax on the balance of net income. Surplus on net income in excess of $5,000.

Income-Tax Don't's

Don't prepare your return without first studying the instructions on the form.

Don't procrastinate. Early assembling of data permits a careful consideration of all tax problems.

Don't destroy the memoranda from which your return was prepared.

Don't omit explanation when such information is essential to an intelligent audit. Attach memoranda to your return.

No. 4 Personal Exemptions

In addition to the personal exemption of $1,000 for single persons and $2,500 for married persons living together and for heads of families, a taxpayer is entitled to a credit of $400 for each dependent, defined by income-tax law and regulations as a person under 18 years of age or incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective. This term "mentally or physically defective" means not only cripples and those mentally defective but persons in ill health and the aged.

In order to be entitled to the $400 credit, the taxpayer must furnish the dependent his or her chief support. The credit is based upon actual financial dependency and not mere legal dependency. For example, a father whose children receive half or more of their support from a trust fund or other separate source is not entitled to the credit.

Neither relationship nor residence is a factor in the allowance of the $400 credit for a dependent. The taxpayer and the dependent may be residents of different cities. If husband and wife both contribute to the support of a dependent, the $400 credit may be taken by the one contributing the chief support, and may not be divided between them.

A single person who supports in his home an aged mother is entitled not only to the $400 credit for a dependent, but also to the personal exemption of $2,500 as the head of a family. A widower supporting under similar circumstances a dependent child under 18 years of age also is entitled to the personal exemption of $2,500 as the head of a family, plus the $400 credit for a dependent.

Under the Revenue Act of 1932 both the personal exemption and the credit for dependents are required to be prorated where the status of the taxpayer changed during the year.

state will close February 1—only half a school year for 1933.

That would mean 147,926 children in rural and 21,161 in city schools turned out, and 4224 more teachers out of jobs.

Two hundred schools in Alabama already are closed, and 1390 are scheduled to close before February 1. Teachers' pay generally has fallen to degradingly low levels, even when they get the pay. But Chicago, for instance, still owes its teachers $28,000,000, and the country owes teachers $40,000,000 for services rendered, but not paid for.

No one can calculate the loss in pay to teachers paid with tax warrants or script which they had to spend at a discount sometimes as high as 40 per cent.

Thousands are Affected

Despite the fact that high school enrollments have risen 1,000,000 since 1930, the number of employed teachers in the country has been reduced by 50,000, and the building of new school buildings has dropped off 80 per cent since 1930.

The National Education Association estimates that by April 1 about 20,000 rural schools will be closed, affecting more than a million children.

Meanwhile, America, which for years has looked on her public school system as her choicest jewel, is matching other nations forge ahead while her own schools slide backward. So-called of Russia for training and welfare of children, while it is partly a political measure, still shows the newest great country forging mightily ahead in popular education.

Reports to the Office of Education

WOMAN'S WEAKNESS

Mrs. J. W. Jones of 1100 No. Sherman St., Okmulgee, Okla., says: "I really felt that I must give up. But four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription relieved all pain and suffering and I have enjoyed splendid health since. I recommend this medicine to any woman suffering from feminine weakness."

New size, tablets 50 cts., liquid $1.00. Large size, tabs., or liquid, $1.50. "We Do Our Part."

Family Washing

Fully Finished
10c Per Pound

NELSON Huckins

Bobcats Win Over Guernsey 33 to 20

Blevins Downs Patmos 19 to 18 at Hope High Gymnasium

In the most thrilling game of the season, the Hope High School Bobcats Wednesday night stretched their winning streak to six straight, defeating Guernsey here, 33 to 20.

As the first half ended the Bobcats were out in front, 14 to 8. Guernsey came back strong, and within a few moments after the third quarter the invaders had overcome Coach Teddy Jones' men. From there it was a fight to the finish.

With only four minutes to play, the Bobcats grew desperate, pulling up 13 points to ward off defeat. The work of England and Madison was outstanding for the locals. England led all other cagers in scoring with 13 points.

Madison of Hope, and P. Ramsey of Guernsey, tied for second place honors with 8 points each. Rosenbaum of Guernsey, turned in a good game.

Coach Jones' unbeaten and untied team will go to Texarkana Friday night for a game with the Razorbacks. In a second game played in the high school gymnasium Wednesday night, Blevins High School won over Patmos in a close contest, 19 to 18.

Lee of Blevins, scored 12 points for his team. Porterfield of Patmos, was second in scoring points with six.

here from Mexico, which we tolerantly regard as backward, show "renewed activity and plans for more rapid development."

Australia Stands Fast

Australia reports "standards are being maintained." From "darkest Africa" comes this word: "Though we have been hit by the depression just as much as the United States," reports E. G. Malherbe, director of education there, "we have to a large extent spared our educational system the shock of the blow."

Teachers' salaries in the Transvaal, where no schools have been closed, are reported at around $1600 a year.

The highest average the United States ever reached was around $1400 and while the present average is not known, a clue is given by those thousands of $400 salaries.

The schools were the last to feel the depression. Commissioner of Education Zook estimates that, even with returning prosperity, it will be two years before such prosperity will be reflected in the schools.

"Such a highly complex civilization as we have built requires highly trained intelligences for maintenance and further development," points out Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes. "No nation in these times can hope to survive, to say nothing of

PRINTZESS NEW SPRING COATS HAVE GOT THE

blues

If you're up on fashion, you're planning now for a new spring coat in navy blue. We've the gayest collection in Printzess coats you've ever seen. Ribbed and crepey wools . . . gaiapin collars . . . corrugated effects . . . wide revers . . . bows . . . coats with envelope cuffs . . . with "collapsible" fullness above the elbow. All the reasons for making it navy blue are included in our Printzess "blue" collection. These three models are priced at $25

Ladies Specialty Shop

Democracy on Trial

Commissioner Zook feels that no less than democracy itself is on trial today.

"The only reason we have been able to succeed as a democracy is because the public has been well informed and educated. We will reap the same harvest as have other countries in which democracy died; if we let fall the level of education and intelligence, as we are in danger of doing today," says Dr. Zook.

That is why an official like Secretary Ickes, sitting in the very midst of the hurly-burly of the New Deal, can say:

"Even in these days of tremendous pressing problems, to my mind the most important of all is: What are we going to do about our schools?"

Touhy Gang Trial Drawing to Close

Defense Contends John Factor Was Never Actually Kidnaped

CHICAGO—(AP)—A demand by the prosecution that Roger Touhy and two others go to the electric chair for the $70,000 kidnaping of John Factor—and a charge by the defense that Factor never was kidnaped—came Wednesday as the trial drew to a close.

Half of the prosecution's closing statement to the jury was made by Marshal Kearney. Defense Attorney William Scott Stewart, then began a dramatic defense plea, interrupting it when Judge Michael J. Feinberg decided the hour was too late to continue.

Kearney's closing arguments centered around identification by Factor from the witness stand of Touhy, Gustav Schaefer, and Albert Kator as men he glimpsed while being held by kidnapers.

In his defense plea Stewart admonished the jury that "Factor, with his record, is a man to be looked over very carefully." He referred to extradition proceedings against Factor by the British government in an alleged $7,000,000 stock fraud.

Stewart's plea was to be resumed Thursday. Also, there will be the closing half of the state's argument by Assistant State Attorney Wilbur Crowley, in charge of the prosecution. Then the case will be given to the jury.

Louisiana produces more pelts of fur-bearing animals than any other state.

Young Business Men to Meet on Thursday

The Young Business Men's association will meet Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock in the city hall. Syd McMath, secretary of the association, urges a full attendance of members.

A Thought

Thou shalt not pervert the judgment of the stranger, nor of the fatherless; nor take a widow's judgment to pledge.—Deuteronomy, 24:17.

Justice, being destroyed, will destroy; being preserved, will prosper.—Maim.

Boy Scouts

Troop No. 88 of the boy scouts have elected the following officers: Assistant scoutmaster, Thomas Brumfield; Junior assistant scoutmaster, Gordon Buyles; senior assistant scoutmaster, Albert Jewell; scribe, Horace Jewell; mascot, Gerald Lee Boles; senior patrol leader, Rufus Hornford.

Help Kidneys

If poorly functioning kidneys and bladder make you suffer from Getting Up Night, Nervousness, Rheumatic Pains, Stiffness, Burning, Smarting, Itching, or acidity try the guaranteed Doctor's Prescription Cystex (Blue-Box).—Must fix you up or money back. Only 70¢ at drugists.

Smoke Your Meat

With Jackson's Meat Smoker

Price 75c a quart

Brush Free

JOHN S. GIBSON Drug Company

"The REXALL Store" Hope, Ark. Established 1885

BABY CHICKS

It's time to get chicks for broilers. Market rising every day. Make money with Oakes Hatchery chicks. Hatching weekly.

OAKCREST HATCHERY 111 North Walnut Street

BEG PARDON

In Briant's Drug Store advertisement Wednesday we advertised two 20c tubes of McKesson's Shaving Cream for 25c.

It should have read:

Two tubes McKesson for 39c

NOTICE!

—to Water Consumers

WATER TO BE CUT OFF

From 1 P. M. to 5 P. M.

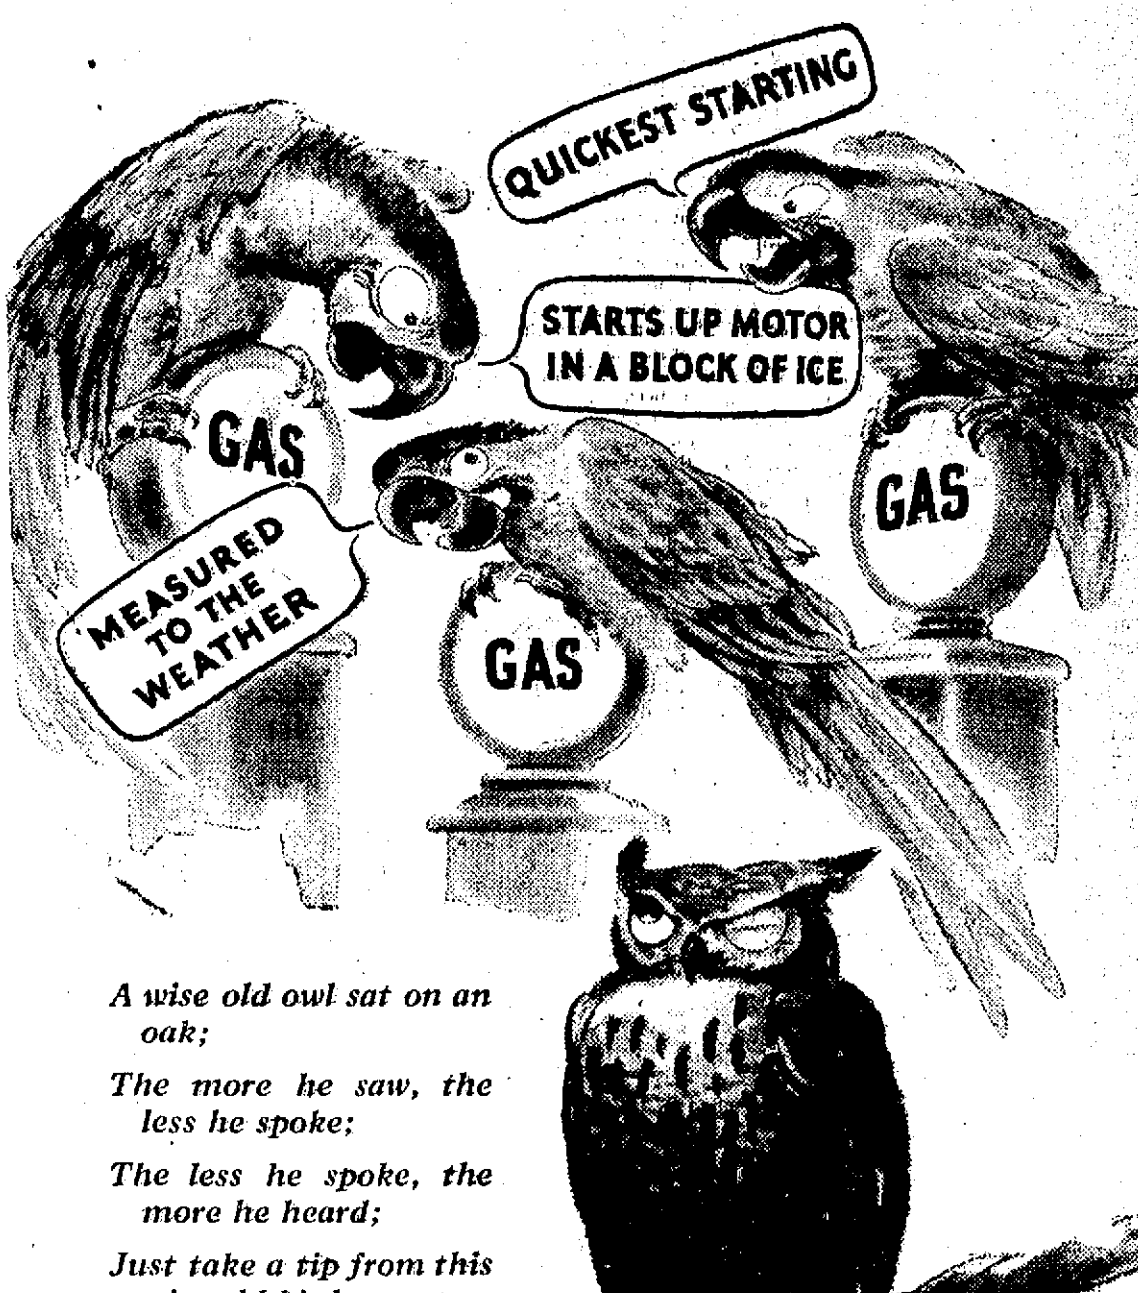

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 2ND

All streets South of the M. O. P. Railroad East of Main Street to Shover Street.

Patrons living in the above district are asked to draw enough water to supply their demands before 1 o'clock.

HOPE WATER & LIGHT PLANT

George Sandefur, Manager

Try a tankful of Essolene and make your own quick-starting test without any tricks.

You will then see for yourself why . . .

AT REGULAR GASOLINE PRICE

Essolene

Guarantees Smoother Performance

in cold weather or any other weather

Sold at all Esso Stations and Dealers

STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF LOUISIANA

This sign identifies 30,000 Esso stations and dealers from Maine to Louisiana who represent the service and products of the world's leading oil organization.

Copyright 1934, Esso, Inc.

Famous Singer

HORIZONTAL

1 Who is the singer in the picture?
2 Ship.
3 Lion.
4 Seventh note.
5 Explanation of inquiry.
6 Within.
7 Masculine pronoun.
8 Constellation.
9 Church bench.
10 Steamer.
11 Theme.
12 Exists.
13 To accomplish.
14 He was trained for — by
15 Madame T.aganini.
16 Mesh of lace.
17 Eagle.
18 Hastened.
19 Deistic sect of India.
20 Striking back.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

19 Postscript.
21 Auriculate.
23 Harp.
26 Dipterous fly.
27 Disbelief in God.
28 Costly.
29 One time.
30 Genus of fan palms.
31 Ministers' half year's stipends.
35 Blomish.
36 Mover's truck.
38 Hops kiln.
39 Tooth tissue.
40 To peruse.
42 Unless.
44 Male adult.
46 Blue grass.
48 Affirmative.
50 Doctor.
51 Proposition.
52 South Carolina.
54 Left side (abbr.).

VERTICAL

2 Northwest.
3 Golf device.
4 Not the same.
5 Relish.
6 Two fives.
7 Toward.
8 He is — by nationality.
11 Since 1899 he has been a leading singer in —.
13 Part of eye.

40 Pussy.
41 Solemn.
43 Total.
45 Either.
46 Peg.
47 Your.
49 Mother.
50 Dower property.
51 Onager.
53 Snaky fish.
55 His voice is a

Tokio

Miss Ruby Wisdom was shopping in Nashville Wednesday.

Little Billy Neal Jones of Nashville visited Mrs. Ora Cooley Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Whitmorris returned to their home at Prescott Thursday after several days visit with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Huddleston at this place.

Glare Nance of Prescott was a business visitor to Tokio Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Holt were business visitors to Nashville Monday.

M. L. Stewart and daughter Miss Frances of Hot Springs visited relatives here Sunday.

G. T. McLarty of Bingen was a business visitor to Tokio Wednesday.

Mrs. Timberlake of Hope was in this part of the county Monday taking the farm home census.

P. C. Holt of Pump Springs was a Tokio visitor Monday.

John Ridgill and Mrs. Onstead was assessing taxes at Tokio Monday.

Willie Bryant of Bingen was a visitor to Tokio Monday.

Mr. Erwin of Hope was a business visitor to Tokio Monday.

A. C. Holt and daughter Miss Kathryn were business visitors to Nashville Monday.

Lex King of Hope was a business visitor to Tokio Monday.

E. E. Gist was a Nashville visitor Monday.

Eldon Cooley of Hot Springs spent Sunday with friends and relatives here.

Tallie Harris of Roy was trading in Tokio Saturday.

Charley Bryant and daughter Miss Eula of Roy was shopping in Tokio Saturday.

The Ladies Missionary Society of Sweet Home rendered a play at the Sweet Home school house Saturday night.

Mrs. M. C. Mitchell, 98, died Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Smith. She died from old age. The remains were laid to rest in Oak Grove cemetery Sunday afternoon.

Market Place

Remember, the more you tell, the quicker you sell.

1 time, 10c line, min. 30c
For consecutive insertions, minimum of 3 lines in one ad.
3-times, 6c line, min. 50c
6 times, 5c line, min. 90c
26 times, 3 1/2c line, min. $2.70
(Average 5 1/2 words to the line)

NOTE—Want ads may be charged with the understanding that the bill is payable on presentation of statement, before the first publication.

Phone 768

HELP WANTED

WANTED—Reliable men age 25 to 50 to supply established demand for Rawleigh Products in South Pike, South Clark counties and Hope. Other good localities available. Company furnishes everything but the car. Good profits for hustlers. Write Rawleigh Co., Dept. AK-151-OD, Memphis, Tenn., or see Jno. R. Cash, Ozan, Ark. 18, 25, 1p

NOTICE

NOTICE—plain and fancy sewing and quilting, see Mrs. Purcell, 420 North Ferguson street. 1-31-p

Sash! Doors! Hope Bldg. Material Co.

All family finish bundles 6c pound. Or weekly rates, 2 people $1.00, 3 people $1.25, 4 people $1.50. Ladies dresses dry cleaned 60c and up, cash and carry. Hope Steam Laundry. Telephone 148.

Wallpaper! Hope Bldg. Material Co.

LIST YOUR REAL ESTATE

For Sale or Rent with BRIDEWELL & TYLER Ground Floor Arkansas Bank Building Phone 99 EFFICIENT AND DEPENDABLE SERVICE 26-6c

Bird Roost! Hope Bldg. Material Co.

LOST

LOST—Ladies brown kid gloves center parking space Main street or in A & P or Piggy Wiggly. Reward for return to this office. 1-31-dh

LOST—Two and one-half inch brass cap from Dodge Fire Truck. Return to Fire Station. 31-31c

LOST—Half-grown fox terrier, large white and black spots. Short bob-tail. Name Bingo. $1 reward. C. W. Tarpley, Esso Station, West Third. Phone 58. 30-36c

FOR SALE

Star popcorn machine, in first class condition. Cash or terms. Bryant's Drug Store. 30, 3c

FOR SALE — Good mule 9 years old, harness. Hoover type wagon. $100.00. Charles Fox, Houe, Route 3. Three miles East. 30-31p

OUR BOARDING HOUSE By AHERN

—AND, WHEN I GET MY $500 REWARD, FOR THE ARREST AND CONVICTION OF CAPTAIN SHANDYGAFF, OF COURSE I WILL GIVE A PORTION OF THE MONEY TO MY FRIEND, DETECTIVE RIENDEAU, WHO MADE THE ARREST—AND, WITH THE BALANCE, I WILL TAKE A TRIP OUT TO MY GOLD MINING PROPERTY IN COLORADO. YES, YOU RECALL, M'LAD, THE GOLD MINE I BOUGHT FROM MY BROTHER JAKE—THE LITTLE PHOEBE—UM—M KAFF KAFF.

DON'T GO OUT THERE WITHOUT SACKS! YOU KNOW, GOLD ORE AN' NUGGETS PLAY HAVOC WITH 'POCKET LINING'! BETTER SPEND TH' BIGGEST PART OF YOUR REWARD MONEY FOR SACKS TO TAKE WITH YOU—TOUGH ONES, LIKE MAIL POUCHES!

AH YES, THE GOLD MINE—

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES

WELL, WOT'D YUH LIKE, BABE?

OH-HH—H, I'D LIKE A FRUIT COCKTAIL, CREAMED MUSHROOM SOUP—

ROAST LONG ISLAND DUCKLING, TURKEY, PIG N' ROAST BEEF—FRENCH FRIED, MASHED N' SCALLOPED SPUDS, BROCCOLI, ASPARAGUS, CAULIFLOWER, LIMA BEANS, PEAS, SQUASH, SPINACH—

ALLEY OOP

WELL—G'BY, SWEETUMS! I'M OFF TO CORRAL ALLEY OOP'S DINOSAUR FOR YUH! AND, WHILE I'M AT IT, I'LL GRAB FOOZY AN' PUT 'IM WHERE HE CAN'T PULL ANY MORE SHENANIGANS ON YOU—

WELL, FER—! WOTTA BREAK! FOOZY!

WASH TUBBS

ONE OF THE LIFEBOATS IS MISSIN', SIR, AN' WE CAN'T FIND HIDE NOR HMR OF MR. MCQUIGGLE.

HA! WHAT DID I TELL YOU, PODNER? MORE EVIDENCE.

WELL, I RECKON THAT JUST ABOUT SOLVES OUR LITTLE SPOOK MYSTERY, EH, BOY?

SURE, MCQUIGGLE WAS AT TH' BOTTOM OF EVERY-THING. HE FOUND OUT WE WERE WISE TO HIM AN' SKIPPED.

MISTA TUBBS—P.S.—

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

HADY-SIDE IS OUT EN MASSE TO SEE IF NUTTY AND FRECKLES REALLY HAVE SOMETHING ON THE BALL....

FRIENDS, WE HAVE NO WAY OF GUARANTEEING THAT OUR HISTO-DETECTOR WILL WORK... IF IT DOESN'T WORK, PLEASE DON'T LAUGH AT MY FRIEND, NUTTY COOK... HE'S WORKED AWFULLY HARD TRYING TO PERFECT IT!!

MAKING EXCUSES ALREADY, EH? PLACING FAITH IN A CUY LIKE JUTTY... SAY, HIS MOUTH LOOKS LIKE HE'D BEEN HIT IN THE FACE WITH AN AXE... AND HIS EYES LOOK AS IF HE HADN'T NOTICED THE BLOW!!

THE NEWFANGLES (Mom'n Pop)

WHEN THAT BIG SIXTEEN-CYLINDER CAR STOPPED AT CURLEY'S GARAGE, AND BRAINY GUS STEPPED FORTH, LOOKING LIKE A MILLION IN HIS HIGH HAT AND SIDE BURNS, THE MOB WAS THERE, AND ALL ATTENTION

CONSTABLE, COULD YOU DIRECT ME TO WHERE MR. MENI ARE SURVEILING ON THE OLD LOCKWOOD ESTATE, NEAR HERE?

YA MEAN, OUT YERE THEY'RE GOIN' T' BUILD THAT DAM EH?

THAT'D MAKE TEN CARS LIKE THE ONE YOU MOORE BRING FROM CHICAGO, BACK IN '25, WEREN'T 25 IT WAS THE GUY'S '09

OUT OUR WAY By WILLIAMS

MA-AH! SHE WON'T TAKE HER TURN HOLDIN' TH' DOG BY TH' TAIL, SO HE WON'T FALL OUT—SHE'S STALLIN' ME OFF.

I AM NOT! I'M JUST AS GOOD A GUESSER AT TIME AS HE IS, AND IT AIN'T MY TURN YET.

I'LL TIME YOU! I'LL SETTLE THE ARGUING, STARTING WITH TH' NEXT SHIFT.

WHY MOTHERS GET GRAY

What Babe Would LIKE!

A COMBINATION SALAD, STRAWBERRY PARFAIT, CHERRY PIE, ANGEL FOOD CAKE A LA MODE, PRUNE WHIP, ORANGE ICE, CUSTARD, CARAMEL SUNDAE, ANOTHER PIECE OF CHERRY PIE, COOKIES N' COFFEE

BUT, I'M ON A DIET—SO I'LL JUS' HAVE A HAM SANDWICH

LADY—PLEASE DON'T SCARE ME LIKE THAT

In the Hands of the Enemy! By HAMLIN

AH-HAH! GOTCHA!

OH UNRATEDLE! COME QUICK! I GOT FOOZY FOR YUH!

HELP! DINNY! HELP!

The Ol' Boy Himself! By CRANE

LISSSEN, DEY'S SUMPIN LOCKED INSIDE DIS FRUIT LOCKER, AN' IT'S ALIVE. GETME A KEY.

WELL, IFEN IT AIN'T MISTA MCQUIGGLE!

The Heckler! By BLOSSER

IF THE HISTO-DETECTOR REALLY WORKS, I BET YOU'LL WANT TO BE THE FIRST ONE TO BRAG ABOUT KNOWING NUTTY COOK! DON'T RAZZ HIM UNTIL HE GIVES YOU A REASON!!

IT ISN'T EVERY KID HIS AGE WHO CAN DO WHAT HE'S DONE... HE'LL MAKE SHADYSIDE PROUD OF HIM! AND DON'T FORGET, CRASH DAVIS... INVENTORS ARE BORN!

I KNOW IT... THAT'S JUST THE TROUBLE!!

IT JUST HAS TO WORK, NOW!! NUTTY AND FRECKLES ARE ON THE SPOT!!

Brainy Puts It Over! By COWAN

YES, IF CONDITIONS ARE FAVORABLE, WE EXPECT TO RUSH THE WORK RIGHT THROUGH—IT'LL MEAN A BIG THING TO THIS COMMUNITY—INCREASING LAND VALUES AN' BRINGING BACK BOOM TIMES.

IT'S A WHEEL WITHIN A WHEEL—DA YA GIT IT?

I DIDN'T FILL THEM FULL OF THE OLD HOPE, OR ANYTHIN—AND DID THE (X SWALLOW) IT!!